Spotlight on Gifted IEP: From Data to Deep Impact

Tuesday, February 10, 2026

8:30-11:30 or 12:00-3:00

Presented by Kate Morris, M.Ed. Gifted Education TAP Consultant

As the landscape of gifted education evolves, the transition from standardized data to meaningful student advocacy has never been more critical. This session provides an "in-the-trenches" masterclass on navigating the modern Gifted IEP process, moving beyond mere compliance to create a living roadmap for the asynchronous learner. We will dissect the art of translating complex Eligibility Determination Reports (EDRs) into instructional reality, ensuring that high-level test scores are utilized not as a ceiling, but as a baseline for radical growth. By centering the student's voice through strategic interviewing techniques and crafting goals that are both neuro-affirming and rigorously measurable, educators will learn to bridge the gap between current academic performance and the student's long-term existential and professional future.
